The amount of the Security Deposit is preauthorized and is used per incident according to the insurance company policies based on the International Maritime Law. This means that if a damage or loss occurs, the charterer will be charged of the cost and must provide the initial Security Deposit amount again in order to continue their trip. Otherwise, the operator has the right to cancel the charter or take any legal action, including compensation for any extra damages or costs that might occur. When the charter ends, the security deposit will be refunded to the charterer in full, if no loss or damage has been occurred to the yacht or no term of the charter contract has been violated. If there are losses or damages, and the cost of them covers only a part of the security deposit, then the amount of the total costs is retained and the rest is released back to the charterer's account (if paid via credit card) or on spot upon redelivery (if paid in cash).

SECURITY DEPOSIT INSURANCE reduces the security deposit amount and is paid in cash upon embarkation. It consists of the insurance amount (non-refundable) and the security one (refundable). The reduced security deposit amount is paid via credit card:

*Security insurance is obligatory for all skippered charters: 300 € insurance plus 500 € security deposit

RYA, ASA, Nautic Ed certifications are officially recognized but it is important that the charterers do not own a license with restrictions or limitationssuch as 'Daylight hours', 'Day skipper', 'Inland waters', etc. Further sailing courses might be required in order to obtain an adequate sailing license, but most times, an application to the sailing association that issued the certificate, is what it takes to issue a document which certifies the needed qualifications.

The sailing licenses are inspected and approved by the port authorities, according to the Greek regulations. Charterers should ensure to have the appropriate certifications before they arrive as they are the only responsible in case of any rejection of their certification -and therefore the approval to leave the port- by the authorities.
